Undergraduate Program

The Chicana/Chicano Studies Program (CCSP) employs a dual mission at Eastern Washington University (EWU). The program’s first mission is to significantly contribute toward enhancing opportunities for the participation of Chicana/o/x students in higher education. This mission is achieved by vigorously recruiting Chicana/o/x students, and providing the essential support needed for experiencing a positive and successful academic career at Eastern Washington University. A parallel CCSP mission is augmenting EWU’s goal in addressing diversity by providing all students, regardless of ethnicity, with a critical Chicana/o/x Studies curriculum resulting in a comprehensive and holistic understanding and appreciation of Chicana/o/x communities. Furthermore, CCSP is committed to enacting initiatives that sustains the Program’s dual mission. The Chicana/Chicano Studies Program is therefore structurally divided into three distinct components.

Recruitment

The Chicana/Chicano Studies Program’s student recruitment efforts involve various activities aimed at encouraging Chicana/o/x students to pursue educational opportunities at EWU. Specific recruitment activities include visiting high schools and community colleges, staging university workshops, short courses, conferences and cultural and art outreach efforts include public seminars, lectures and events. On a national level, CCSP actively participates with the American Studies Association, the largest academic association, which promotes research and teaching relevant to Chicana/o/x communities. The CCSP focuses primarily on Chicana/o/x historical experiences of colonization and neo-colonization, economic and cultural contributions to US society, and historical and contemporary struggles, movements, and strategies of resistance and survival.

The CCSP’s offerings include lower and upper division coursework. The Chicana/Chicano Studies Program provides students with an inclusive and interdisciplinary understanding of Chicana/o/x and Latina/o/x experiences in the U.S. Specifically, the program prepares students for the rapidly changing demographic trends in the U.S. and provides critical knowledge and skills necessary to contribute to an ethically and culturally diverse society. In tandem with this approach, the CCSP offers a rigorous academic program of study that prepares students for graduate and professional schools and employment in community-based organizations or the non-profit industrial complex. While the minor is especially suited for those students applying to graduate school, teaching in K–12, educational administration including counseling psychology, social services positions, business, educational, and community organizing, the minor is appropriate for all major fields of study given the discipline’s interdisciplinary foundation. Chicana/o/x and Latina/o/x are now the largest racial ethnic groups in the nation, and the Chicana/Chicano Studies minor will provide all students with an appreciation of the history, political, social, and cultural realities of Chicana/o/x and Latina/o/x in contemporary U.S. society.

Please refer to the required courses and course descriptions section for additional information about CCSP’s curriculum.

Other CCSP Activities

CCSP is committed to networking and establishing contacts with all communities throughout the state of Washington with a particular focus on educational related issues, initiatives, and policies. CCSP’s outreach efforts include public seminars, lectures and cultural and art exhibitions. On a national level, CCSP actively participates with the National Association for Chicana and Chicano Studies, an academic association, which promotes research and teaching relevant to the Chicana/Chicano community, and MALCS (Mujeres Activas en Letras y Cambio Social-Women Active in Letters and Social Change) the largest academic organization in the US for Chicanas, Latinas and Indigenous students and faculty.
