Undergraduate Programs

George Santayana wrote that “Those who cannot remember the past are condemned to repeat it.” History provides the most useful key of knowledge for unlocking all other realms of human development. It embraces many fields of academic inquiry and uses them to provide a detailed picture of various cultures and their governments, legal systems, social behavior, art, economic systems, literature, religions, medicines, technologies, sports, fashions and a myriad other endeavors. A university-level education would be inconceivable without it, because learning about the past is imperative to understanding the present and preparing for the future. The study of history provides a solid foundation not only for history and social studies education majors but also for careers in law, business, government, international relations, journalism, library services and museums, to name but a few. As peoples of different ethnicities interact with each other more frequently in the 21st century, understanding each others’ past paves the way for harmonious and beneficial cross-cultural relations.

In addition to resources of the university library, students have access to materials at the Northwest Museum of Arts and Culture and the Washington State Archives, Eastern Region. Internships are available at several agencies in the area, such as the Northwest Museum of Arts and Culture, the University Archives and the City/County Historic Preservation Office.

History Degree Descriptions

The History Department offers both a major and a minor for the Bachelor of Arts degrees. History courses also appear in Africana Studies, American Indian Studies, Chicano Studies and Women’s and Gender Studies Programs. The department also offers a Master of Arts degree.

Any student who is considering a major or minor in history is strongly encouraged to consult with an advisor from the Department of History in the early stages of his or her academic study at EWU.

Grade Requirements

Courses used to fulfill the History Program requirements for the BA (50 and 65 credit options) and the History Minor (18 credits) require a minimum grade ≥C in each course and a minimum GPA ≥2.5 for all such courses.

General Overview

The MA program in History is designed to prepare students for pursuits requiring a historical background. By selecting one of three graduate concentrations, students who are interested in teaching careers, in preparation for doctoral programs, or for preparation for archival, museum or other history-related work, can design a program to suit their needs.

Requirements for Admission

• an official transcript from an accredited college or university which has awarded the student a baccalaureate degree. At least a (B) ≥3.0 average is normally expected, although most applicants have a higher GPA.
• a substantial writing sample reflecting serious academic effort;
• a one-page personal statement on career plans and interest in pursuing graduate studies in history;
• letters of recommendation from two individuals familiar with the applicant’s academic work or other experience relevant to historical training.

Application Deadlines for History MA Program
The following deadlines are for regular admission to the program. Students may also take up to 12 credits (graduate) prior to admission as a post-baccalaureate student, and apply those credits to the program after acceptance.

- fall quarter April 15
- winter quarter October 15
- spring quarter February 15

General Requirements for Completion

After admission to the graduate program, candidates will complete at least 45 credits of coursework, of which 5–10 credit hours may be HIST 600, HIST 601 or HIST 602. No more than 11 credits of coursework may be taken at the 400-level. Undergraduate EWU history courses included in a master’s program must be taught by the graduate faculty of the History Department.

- All students must complete HIST 501
- Students must complete at least two graduate research seminars (a minimum of 10 credits) choosing from the following: (HIST 506; HIST 512; HIST 532; HIST 544; HIST 546; HIST 590; HIST 596)
- Students must complete at least four graduate readings seminars (a minimum of 10 credits) choosing from the following (HIST 508; HIST 515; HIST 525; HIST 527; HIST 530; HIST 534; HIST 536; HIST 538; HIST 542; HIST 548; HIST 596)

Student should choose courses in consultation with and with the approval of the graduate advisor.

Grade Requirements for Completion—All courses included in the student’s graduate program must be completed with a grade ≥3.0. Students who receive a grade of <3.0 more than once will be dropped from the History MA program.

Graduate Concentration Requirements for Completion:

Students must declare one of three graduate concentrations (general, academic, or public history) no later than their third quarter in the program. Graduate concentrations have the same general and grade requirements as listed above, but differ in the following ways:

- Academic — students must show competency in a research skill (e.g. a foreign language, GIS, oral history) to the satisfaction of their faculty advisor; complete a master’s thesis or a research report in lieu of thesis; and complete an oral examination during their final quarter of graduate study. This concentration will prepare students for the rigor of a PhD program, or simply give them the opportunity to do more focused research.
- General — students must successfully complete a written examination and an oral examination demonstrating extensive knowledge in two fields during their final quarter of graduate study. This concentration does not require a project of thesis and is ideal for working teachers and other professionals who need a graduate degree to advance in their profession.
- Public History — students must show competency in an research skill (e.g. digital history, GIS, oral history) to the satisfaction of their faculty advisor; students must complete HIST 542 and HIST 544; and either HIST 546 or HIST 548; and between 2 and 5 credits of HIST 694; and complete a portfolio of professional work and an oral examination during their final quarter of graduate study. This concentration will prepare students for careers outside the academy.

Students should choose their academic concentration in consultation with their faculty advisor and with the approval of the graduate advisor.
