

SEXUALITY AND QUEER STUDIES MINOR

The Sexuality and Queer Studies minor offers students an interdisciplinary course of study focused on the histories, experiences, contributions, activism, and community-based knowledges of LGBTQ+ people. All of these elements are considered intersectionally and within the context of larger social, political, and structural formations, including heterosexism, heteronormativity and transphobia. This specific focus is contrasted with the broader consideration of gender, sexuality and women in the Women's and Gender Studies minor. This minor is an excellent complement to most majors. It prepares students to be leaders in community organizing, nonprofit organizations, education, social services, youth development, entrepreneurship, and new industries.
